

LUNATIC SLEEPS IN LOFTY TREES.

JOHN KING TERRIFIES RESIDENTS OF DETROIT.

HAUNTS LOCAL CEMETERY.

Imagines Burying Ground Contains Big Lake—Knows Officers Are After Him and Feels Return to Asylum.

Detroit, Mich.—Afraid of their lives, fearful of leaving their homes, the children in the vicinity of Mt. Elliott and Monroe avenues have not played in the streets for several nights. Older persons, too, remain on front porches and do not wander far from the open doorway, through which they may flee at a moment's notice.

John King, a man with a wrecked mind, is the cause of the commotion that exists in that vicinity, and although hunted by officers, he has eluded them and a complete reign of terror exists around that corner of Mt. Elliott cemetery.

King is a powerful young fellow of about 25 years. After his mind gave way he was taken to the Dearborn retreat, but about a month ago returned to his home in this city.

For several weeks there was no indication of anything wrong with the young man. But, suddenly, he began to develop a fondness for the solitude of the cemetery, especially at night, and forsaking his bed at home, he climbed the big trees among the headstones and slept on the limbs after the primitive fashion.

King had the idea that the cemetery contained a great lake and that on its shores was the ideal camping place. And at night, to avoid the heat, he would steal away to his tree bed.

Neighbors who knew of the occurrence notified the police at the Elmwood station. Several men were detailed to effect the capture of the young man, and nightly they have patrolled the vicinity, three or four of them frequently being seen in that portion where the demented man was supposed to be.

Often King would leave the seclusion of his haunts in the cemetery and walk with quick, jerky stride along the walks adjacent to the cemetery. One night, when an officer accosted him, King, it is said, wheeled and struck the officer a violent blow, felling him to the ground, and, turning, ran north.

The demented man is also alleged to have grabbed a young man by the throat and was trying to throttle him when others approached and frightened him so he desisted. Another small boy, who was of too inquisitive a disposition for King, was assaulted and knocked down.

King realizes that he is being sought by the officers and will be placed in confinement again if caught. He is shrewd enough to avoid anyone who looks like an officer or one of his friends. He shuns his former friends as though afraid they would do him violence, and if they approach him will take to his heels.

The officers are maintaining a still hunt for King.

In the meantime, while King nightly seeks his leafy couch and the chilcers patrol the vicinity and stand guard over the place where they suppose he is, the residents do not venture away from home, the children do not demand the freedom of the streets and at night the doors and windows are securely locked against a possible attack.

Mt. Elliott avenue is enjoying a real reign of terror and prayers at night include the wish that the officers will succeed in capturing the man who is making life unbearable in that vicinity.

ALL AROUND THE HOUSE.

Some Hints That Will Be Found Well Worth Remembering.

Nothing baked will keep well unless it is thoroughly cooled before being put away.

Keep the milk bottles tightly closed even in the refrigerator. New milk should never be mixed with old.

When boiling a pudding, remember to place a stick in the bottom of the saucepan. This will prevent the pudding burning.

Melted butter used for basting is used in the proportion of one tablespoonful of butter, melted, to one cupful of hot water. Keep hot while using.

To polish cut glass wash it well with soapuds, rinse and then, after drying it with a cloth, polish it with sawdust and a washleather. The glass will be brilliant after this treatment.

A peppermint plant in a pot is as good as a fly-paper to rid a room of those annoying pests—the flies. There are several varieties of plants which the flies do not love, but the peppermint is their especial aversion. They will hurry to leave the room where it is.

To keep sandwiches fresh, the tin boxes in which sweet wafers are purchased are handy receptacles in which to stow away sandwiches for evening lunches. Packed carefully, with lids nicely adjusted, and set on ice until needed, the sandwiches are temptingly moist.

Ink stains on white articles may be removed with oxalic acid. A teaspoonful of the acid to a cupful of hot water will be found sufficient. The stains should be rubbed with this as soon as possible after they have been made. When the stain is removed carefully wash out the acid with pure water.

WHEN WASHING ORNAMENTS.

Proper Care That Should Be Given to Valuable China.

The washing of valuable china needs to be carried out very cautiously and carefully. A big wooden bowl, filled with warm, not boiling, soapuds, to which a few drops of household ammonia have been added, should be prepared, and each piece of china washed separately in this, using a square of old flannel for plain plates, etc., and a soft brush (a painter's brush is best) for elaborately ornamented articles. Rinse in another wooden bowl of clean warm water, and dry with linen cloths. Bronze ornaments may be washed in the same way, but should be finally polished with a chamois leather. Some people consider a rub with a rag on which there is the least suspicion of paraffin gives bronze a nice appearance, but we do not think it necessary. Glass has a little ammonia in it, but no soap, and then rinsed in quite cold water, says Woman's Life. But glass should be washed with a brush, or, if, elaborately cut and very dirty, it is rather a good plan not to wash it at all, but brush a paste of whiting and water well into it, allowing it to dry on thoroughly, then removing it with a clean brush, and finally polishing with an old silk handkerchief.

When Broom Does Damage. Screens should never be brushed with the house broom, as it has a tendency to push the wire from the frame, and cause it to bulge in a most unsightly manner. A child's toy broom, or, better, a whisk broom, is most useful for their proper care. The dust should be brushed from the meshes at least every two weeks.

Badly rusted screens may be brushed over with kerosene, applied with a small varnish brush. If the frames need staining and varnishing, the wire may be varnished also, or painted with any good paint thinned with oil.

Thoughtless of Us. "This is a sad and bitter world," remarked a gentleman of Irish extraction. "We never strew flowers on a man's grave until after he is dead."

Wear Big Diamonds by Right. The three finest diamonds worn in London society are those belonging to the duchess of Westminster, the countess of Dudley, and the duchess of Portland. It is eminently right and fitting that these lucky women should be the wives of three of the richest noblemen in the peerage.

Worst Accident in History. The most awesome accident in history was the fall of a Roman amphitheater in the time of Tiberius. Fifty thousand people were crushed.

Day of the Big Ranch Gone. The day of the big ranch is passing in California and the example set is rapidly being followed by the remaining owners of large tracts, who see that they can sell their immense holding and invest the property to great advantage under present conditions. These tracts will furnish homes for more than 10,000,000 people if properly subdivided and this increase in California's population will mean increased opportunity for the investment of the money secured from the sale of the big ranches.

All Chemically Pure.

The mistaken idea of a few years ago, about Alum in Baking Powders being injurious, no longer prevails, or scarcely exists. It is a well established fact by chemical analysis that Cream of Tartar being less volatile than Alum, when exposed to heat, is not entirely vaporized as is the case with Alum, but leaves a residue in the bread, which is injurious. Alum, on the contrary, is entirely evaporated while performing its function during process of baking, leaving no atom of injurious residuous substance. The words "Chemically Pure" erroneously used to designate Cream of Tartar from Alum baking powder is a misnomer. Baking Powder made of pure Alum is as chemically pure as made from pure cream of tartar. These words mean nothing more nor less than pure chemicals, and in no way can they imply that one baking powder is Alum and another Cream of Tartar. Alum has been declared to be wholesome; an established fact. Every large water system in the cities along the Missouri river use Alum in large quantities to purify the water before pumping it into their water mains for consumption. Cream of Tartar baking powder is perhaps good enough for any one; Alum baking powder is better, and very much cheaper.

Sensible German Idea. On continental railways and the Rhine steamers there is no miscellaneous scrambling for meals. Instead a steward goes through the train or boat and lists the people who want to eat. Each gets a number, and this insures a seat without crowding or delay.

"Pugs" Ordered from Seattle. The chief of police of Seattle, believing that prize fighters bring criminals and other undesirables in their train, has ordered all pugilists, trainers and others connected with the ring to leave the city or take up some respectable employment.

That an article may be good as well as cheap, and give entire satisfaction, is proven by the extraordinary sale of Defiance Starch, each package containing one-third more Starch than can be had of any other brand for the same money.

European Neatness. In a thousand miles of Europe an observer saw only one rubbish heap—some old metal cans at Karlsruhe. Everywhere else was a complete absence of all waste or carelessness, and above all, of defacement and roadside uncleanness.

When Bachelors Were Taxed. There is nothing revolutionary in modern proposals to tax bachelors. Two centuries ago every celibate in England was paying tribute to the exchequer "for neglecting his duty to support another man's daughter."

Automobilists in Shanghai. There is no speed limit for autos outside the city of Shanghai, China. Within the city 30 miles an hour is allowed.

GAINED 34 POUNDS

Persistent Anemia Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills After Other Remedies Had Failed.

"When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. Nathaniel Field, of St. Albans, Somerset county, Maine, "I was the palest, most bloodless person you could imagine. My tongue and gums were colorless and my fingers and ears were like wax. I had two doctors and they pronounced my trouble anemia. I had spells of vomiting, could not eat, in fact, did not dare to, I had such distress after eating. My stomach was filled with gas which caused me awful agony. The backache I suffered was at times almost unbearable and the least exertion made my heart beat so fast that I could hardly breathe. But the worst of all was the splitting neuralgia headache which never left me for seven weeks. About this time I had had several numb spells. My limbs would be cold and without any feeling and the most deadly sensations would come over me."

"Nothing had helped me until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, in fact, I had grown worse every day. After I had taken the pills a short time I could see that they were benefiting me and one morning I awoke entirely free from pain. The distress after eating disappeared and in three weeks I could eat anything I wanted and suffer no inconvenience. I also slept soundly. I have taken several boxes of the pills and have gained in weight from 120 to 154 pounds and am perfectly well now."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure anemia because they actually make new blood. For rheumatism, indigestion, nervous headaches and many forms of weakness they are recommended even if ordinary medicines have failed. They are sold by all druggists, or will be sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

RATS ON A JAG ATTACK WOMAN IN HER CELLAR

Drank Elderberry Wine from Vat and Nearly Caused Death of a Maine Woman.

Patten, Me.—Rats which got drunk on elderberry wine attacked Mrs. Jeremiah Sibley two weeks ago and so badly lacerated her that for several days her life was despaired of. Blood poison was feared, but as prompt measures were taken it is believed that all danger of this dread disease is now passed and that the woman will eventually regain her full health. The wine was in a vat in the Sibley cellar and one day when the housewife went to draw a bottle for a sick friend she saw half a dozen rats scurrying away. Closer inspection showed that they had gnawed through the cover and helped themselves. Setting the light on a barrel, she retired for a broom. When she returned she says that one of the rats was holding another by the tail head down in the vat and he was sucking himself full.

This so angered Mrs. Sibley that she started in with the broom and whacked at every rat she saw. One began to squeal and instantly the cellar seemed full of drunken rodents. They ran for the woman, fastened their teeth in her legs, tore her dress to shreds and ripped her shoes from her feet. When attacked she started to run, but fell over a shovel and a score of the animals bit her in the neck and shoulders before she could make her way up the stairs to the kitchen. There she fainted and was later found by the husband of the sick neighbor when he came for the elderberry wine.

Investigation showed that the rats had got into the vat only the night before, and that the whole colony was drunk when Mrs. Sibley went into the cellar.

SOCIETY GIRLS WORK ON FARM.

Ex-Senator's Four Pretty Daughters Solve Labor Problem.

Walla Walla, Wash.—Insolent and worthless men who are out to kill time or get unreasonable wages have no more terrors for John L. Yeend, former state senator, who resides in Walla Walla and owns a large ranch on Dry Creek.

The labor problem was becoming vexing for Mr. Yeend, his grain being ripe and requiring immediate attention. Men being scarce and surly and unreasonable in their demands, it looked anything but encouraging for Mr. Yeend, when his wife and daughters surprised him by proposing to go to the fields and help harvest the crop.

Mr. Yeend has four pretty daughters who are among the popular society women of Walla Walla. Two of them were already assisting their father by cooking for the harvest crew. At first Mr. Yeend was inclined to refuse the offer, but as his daughters were so much in earnest he has decided to let them assist.

Miss Alma will drive a header box while Miss Bertha will operate the derrick. But the four sisters will probably change about with the work.

Bivaltular Philosophy.
